Managing pension scheme risk

Buy-outs and buy-ins – deals during HI 2023

The total value of buy-out and buy-in deals struck in the first half of 2023 was £21.2bn, the highest for the first half of a calendar year and the second-highest ever recorded for a six-month period. The total number of transactions in the first half of 2023 was 96.

In contrast to the second half of 2022, large transactions dominated the market. Nearly 60% of the bulk annuity market by value (£12.4bn) resulted from five deals in excess of £1bn, including the record-breaking £6.3bn buy-in between the two defined benefit (DB) schemes sponsored by the RSA Group and PIC.

With unprecedented demand from pension schemes, the buy-in market is expected to exceed all previous records over the next year and beyond. Pension schemes will need to embrace changes to the way they approach the insurance market and adopt a targeted approach as insurers' capacity becomes more constrained. The opportunities that strong demand brings are attracting the attention of insurers not already in the market. In early 2023, M&G announced its entry into the bulk annuity market, marking the first increase in the number of insurers in the market in seven years. At the time of writing, M&G has announced two transactions, both completed in the second half of 2023.

We expect more new entrants during 2024. Their entry will help the market to meet the increasing demand, as will the existing insurers increasing their transaction capacity.

Whole-scheme buy-ins continue to dominate the market, and we expect this trend to continue as many pension schemes can afford to fully insure.

Value of buy-ins and buy-outs since 2016

Note. In this chart, buy-outs include transactions that insurers have said are full-scheme buy-ins.

Buy-ins, buy-outs and longevity swaps

In the last year there were 220 transactions, totalling £37.2bn – the second-largest volume of transactions for a year to 30 June.

During the first half of 2023, £3.3bn of longevity swaps were completed.

The largest longevity swap in 2023 to date is the £5bn BT Pension Scheme longevity swap that transacted in the second half of 2023.

This table shows the ranking of the total value of buy-in and buy-out transactions completed over the previous five years (12 months to 30 June and six months to 30 June).

Buy-ins and buy-outs: Market share (by value) during the year to 30 June 2023

The overall average buy-in and buy-out deal size for the last year was £169m, an increase from the year to 31 December 2022, when it was £139m.

In the last year, four insurers (PIC, L&G, Standard Life and Aviva) between them held 75% of the market by value. L&G held the largest market share in the last year, of 23%, following its second transaction with the British Steel Pension Scheme in the first quarter of 2023 (£2.6bn).

Having completed the largest ever buy-in in the first quarter of 2023, with the RSA Group, PIC had a 22% share of the market.

Standard Life's share of 17% puts it in third place. During the first half of 2023 it secured a £1.1bn transaction with Mitchell & Butlers and a £1bn transaction with Chubb Pension Plan.

Aviva's share of 13% puts it in fourth place. It transacted an £870m deal with Thomas Cook Pension Plan in the second quarter of 2023.

Rothesay typically tends to focus on the medium and upper end of the market by transaction size, but during the first half of 2023 it completed five transactions ranging from £34m to £440m. It also secured a £1.4bn transaction with Safeway Scheme.

Just completed the most deals in the year to 30 June 2023, transacting on 35% of all buy-ins. Just has historically focused on small and medium transactions, and its average deal size was £48m in the year to 30 June 2023. However, its appetite for large transactions has grown, and we expect its average deal size to increase in future years.

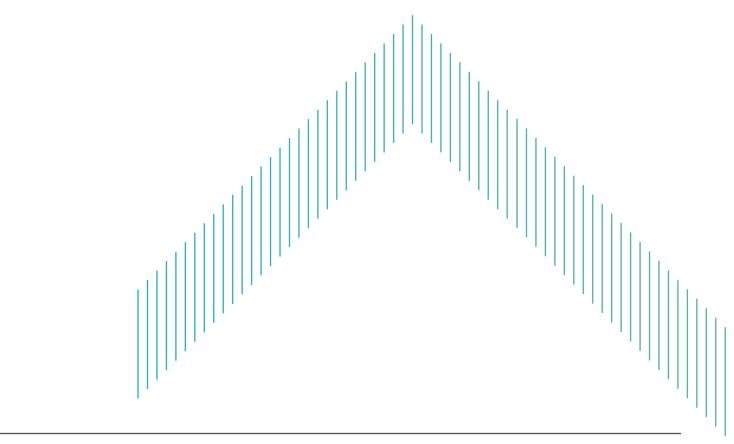

Scottish Widows completed four transactions in the last year, including the £380m transaction with Harrods Group in the first half of 2023.

In a transaction led by Hymans Robertson, in June 2023 Canada Life completed its first buy-in to include deferred members. The insurer is continuing to build up its deferred member proposition.

Given the current and expected high demand for bulk annuity transactions, it's no surprise that other insurers are entering the market. In 2023 M&G announced that it entered the buy-in market using its insurance company, Prudential Assurance Company. M&G is actively quoting on buy-in transactions, with a focus on medium transactions, and at the time of writing completed two transactions totalling £617m in the second half of 2023.

M&G plc was formed by a merger between M&G Investments and Prudential UK. The combined business was then de-merged from Prudential plc to form M&G plc in 2019. M&G plc continues to hold the remaining Prudential UK back book of annuities, which total around £20bn.

The entry of M&G ends seven years of a pension scheme buy-in market with eight active insurers. We expect other insurers to follow its lead as strong demand creates many more opportunities.

Buy-ins and buy-outs in 2023

As pension schemes' funding levels have sharply improved and the market has become busy, many schemes have been reassessing their endgame plans. Alternative risk transfer is getting more attention, but even schemes that are targeting traditional buy-ins and buy-outs will need to change the way they approach the insurance market, seeking advice on the most appropriate approach.

In the current busy market, small schemes (with assets below £100m) seeking buy-in quotations may need to or be advised to consider exclusivity: making an informed decision over a single insurer to work with, and then only requesting pricing from that insurer. This approach could help some schemes gain priority from insurers. From analysing reported transactions and talking to insurers, we estimate around one-third of the buy-in and buy-out market in 2022 was transacted in this way. Before making a decision, trustees and sponsors should understand the pros and cons of this approach over a competitive tender.

Medium schemes (with assets between £100m and £1bn) should make sure that their broking process, and requests of the insurers, are simple enough to ensure their transactions become priorities, while remaining appropriately tailored for the scheme. Large schemes (with assets of more than £1bn) typically have unique considerations that need to be addressed, so their focus is on optimal timing for all stakeholders. They need to define clear objectives and requirements at the outset, with detailed insurer engagement.

Market outlook

We expect the pension scheme buy-in market to exceed record highs of £50bn every year for the foreseeable future, and could top £70bn in some years. We expect most future bulk annuity transactions to be whole-scheme buy-ins or buy-outs, in stark contrast to the period before 2022, when pensioner-only buy-ins dominated.

Appendix

Largest buy-ins and buy-outs in the year to 30 June 2023

The last year saw at least 33 deals in excess of £200m, of which at least 16 were worth more than £500m. The largest transactions were RSA Group's £6.3bn transaction with PIC, followed by the two British Steel Pension Scheme transactions with L&G.
